STUMP

I'll never understand just why it is that I wait until the very last minute to write this weekly story. During the week I seem to have such brilliant ideas which, if I were to put them down, would make for an easier column. But at the last hour, and to say, ideas for this week's story, I seem to have none. I am long since gone to bed. So I sit and stare vacantly at the blank page... and wonder what would happen to me if I just weren't to show up. But I am too much of a coward to find out.

Ah, well, there is one item that escaped my notice last week. It would have been this week, too, if Don Wood hadn't cornered me an reminded me of a promise made several weeks ago. Anyway, I am now writing this story. The action by the majority of the business places in Grayling. Simply, the Friday night staying-open-nine business. For the first time that I can remember, most of the business men in town have gotten together on a Friday night plan to keep the doors open for business until a later hour. So, those of you who are one who forget to get things done during the day, have a reprieve to rectify the error in the evening. The bank, grocery stores, and most of the other places will be open from now on until nine Friday nights. If you like the new plan, use this extra time. It is only through use of this plan that we can decide if it will be worthwhile. I, for one, hope it keeps going.

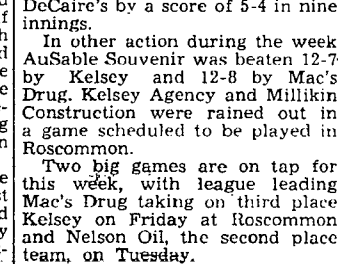

What this town needs is its own home laundry once again. It could become quite a business. The events of the coming week may make me some interesting copy for this week's story. At the regular school board meeting held Monday evening at the high school, officers were elected as follows: President, Jerome Kessler, sec., Bill Joseph and treas., Melvin Nelson.

Scouts Gather

Approximately two ton of waste material was picked out of the mainstream of the AuSable River Wednesday, July 10, by members of the Explorer Scouts, assisted by Matt Edson, Reggie Shesby and the volunteer crew of the Bear Archery Co. and the Sportsmen's Club. Bernie Fowler and Lacey Stephan, Jr., of the Guide's Association, and Mike Shesby, Len and the crew of the Fish Hatchery picked up some of the scrap, while Forest Annis and Lewis Konvicka of the Conservation Dept., picked up the rest. Clarence Roberts and Russ Wright handled the communications and furnished the lunches.

Archery Theme Of Grayling's Festival Float

Sponsored this year by the Grayling Bowhunters, the Grayling float in the Traverse City Cherry Festival parade last Friday followed an archery theme. The float was placed on display in the downtown area of Grayling last Saturday afternoon for about two hours.

Gracing the float were Bethany Kowert, Linda Gibbons, Dorothy Denton, Dolores Kolka and Lorille Schmidt. They were dressed in Robin Hood costumes made by Jerry Mutt. A display board of arrows fashioned by Jerry Joe Smock and a display of bow heads and other equipment made up the float. The float was on the float. Working on the project were Tom Brown, Charles Kroll, Bob Annis, Allan Luckstead, Ken Hill, Gerald Burns, Howard Hatfield, Bob Smock, Howard Madson.

The young ladies on the float were guests of the Bowhunters at a chicken dinner in Traverse City after the parade. Roy McEvers gave the committee a lot of help when he straightened a rear axle just prior to the trip to Traverse City.

The trailer, upon which the float was constructed, belongs to the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce. In 1956, Grayling High School Sports took over the decoration of the float. This year, it was the Grayling Bowhunters, Chamber secretary-manager Boy Hayes and the trailer was available to any group in the county who had some good ideas and wished to take over the decoration and presentation of the float in the 1957 Cherry Festival parade or any like event.

A letter received from Meta Vossbrink of M.S.U., East Lansing, announced that as she is teaching a course in home-making, she will be in charge of the home-making department and furnishings her class will design the home making department for Grayling as the class project. It will be quite some time before the project is completed as the total cost of furnishing the room as it should be is estimated at $15 or $16 thousand dollars. For the present, the old room will be used. However, the move is a start in the right direction.

New York — Miss Arlene Peterson, rural route No. 1, Frederic, Michigan is one of 35 young men and women who will go overseas next fall as special term missionaries of the Methodist Church. They will serve three years each. Miss Peterson will go to Southern Rhodesia, Africa, for educational work.

In preparation for missionary service, the group began June 23 a six-week orientation program at Scarritt College for Christian Workers, Nashville, Tenn. The group, who come from 19 states, will teach on all levels from kindergarten through college, do evangelistic work, demonstrate modern farming methods and do social work. Frederic School Advertises For Construction Bids

A legal advertisement asking for construction bids was published this week in trade journals by the Frederic Community School District. Bids are requested for the construction of a four room elementary school.

The bids will be opened at the Frederic school on Wednesday, August 14 at 2 p. m. according to the advertisement. Serving as architect for the school district is Samuel C. Allen of Saginaw.

Apparently it is hoped to get the new school under construction before this summer or early fall. The new school probably would not be ready for use much before the start of the school year in the fall of 1958.

A trip to Northland Shopping Center came next, then a shopping trip in Royal Oak. The boys spent the night in Warren Village.

Sunday morning church services in Royal Oak started the second day. A trip to the Royal Oak Zoo came next, then a shopping trip. This was the last of the trip.

Golf Club News

Saturday night's costume party at the Golf Club found many versions of the survivors of a shipwreck, but the pair judged best examples were Mrs. Richard DuBois, who wore a tasty affair made from a potato sack, and Dr. B. E. Hennig, whose costume consisted largely of ferns. A treasure hunt came after the costume judging, providing much fun and confusion. Dancing at the clubhouse in a watery atmosphere from the fish and octopus suspended from the fish net hung from the ceiling furnished more entertainment. A roaring bonfire outdoors, complete with wicker roast concluded a most enjoyable evening. The committee responsible for this party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Don Gohr, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Knibbs.

Both oil companies stated that they felt that promotions by the Chamber were helping business in Crawford County and incidentally helping their business.

It is refreshing to Jack Pine to note the numerous articles in Michigan papers dealing with our own problem of canoeists versus fishermen, property owners and the like. I can well remember the time a year ago when Jack Pine commented on this situation and raised the blood pressure and editorial page of the North Woods News. The lofty heights of the Conservation Commission come recognition of the problem. From an Official Meeting comes word that a "Situation" exists. Well, it's a start, anyway.

Former Midland Postal Official Succumbs

William Harrison Grinnell, 68, of Bear Lake, in Kalkaska county died July 8th at Grayling Mercy Hospital. He was born September 29, 1888 in Yale and came to Midland in 1914 where he lived for 17 years. Mr. Grinnell married the former Eleanor Baker Church, April 17, 1937. A veteran of World War I, he had served Midland as assistant postmaster. He moved from Midland in 1948 to make his home on the Main Street River Down River road.

Survivors include his widow, Eleanor, two stepsons, John A. Church, of Midland, and Captain James P. Church, in Tokyo, Japan; a brother Fern Grinnell, of Ludington; and three sisters, Mrs. Julia Burns of New Orleans, La., Mrs. Martha Langer of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Marie Kinney of Ludington.

Services were held Thursday morning, July 11th at 10 o'clock at the Scott Wilson Memorial chapel in Midland. Dr. Theodore M. Greenhoe officiated and interment was in Oakwood Mausoleum in Saginaw.

Top State Elective Positions G. O. P. Departs From Last Two

REPUBLICANS HAVE DEPARTED from their last two top elective posts in state government. The party is already working to win back the highway department and the department of public instruction from the Democrats but, for now, they are on the outside looking in.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, in office for 13 years, said he was going fishing, far from the scenes of some of the bitterest political battles in state history.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, on July 1 became director of the summer school and the evening college at Michigan State University.

Ziegler's farewell was a veiled challenge to his Democratic successor, Mr. Mackie.

Religion is beginning to play an important part in the lives of prisoners. Officials frankly concur that the lack of guidance in the family, the failure to find a church home have led many young men astray. They sometimes wind up in prison.

The situation has developed to the point that prisoners are contributing and working to build their own inmate chapel and furnish it at Southern Michigan prison at Jackson.

The building itself will be constructed by the state on the prison grounds. It will be the site of the greenhouse which was destroyed in the 1952 prison riots.

Inmates have earned their privileges since then, prison officials say. They are serious about the chapel now.

With outside help the inmates have raised more than $8,000 toward the estimated $32,000 needed for furnishings. The campaign will last until the goal is reached.

Food, Cars
Top Local
Consumer Buying
(Special to the Avalanche)
New York, June 26 — In Crawford County, in the past year, food and car operators and auto dealers major part of the money spent in local retail establishments. The two pacemakers accounted for 48 cents out of every dollar spent at retail. Elsewhere in the United States the comparable figure is only 43 cents and, in the East North Central States, also 43 cents.

The findings are by the Standard Rate and Data Service. They are contained in a comparative survey of the buying habits of consumers in every section of the country.

The breakdown shows that housewives in Crawford County spent for food using 26 percent of their available money for it. They bought better grades and bigger quantities than before.

As a result, the stores selling meat, fish, baked goods, vegetables and the like had a good year, with receipts totaling $1,182,000. Their volume in 1955 was $1,158,000.

The amount is only for food bought for home consumption and excludes the money spent in eating and drinking places.

Big spending was in evidence, also, in the automotive field, in purchases of new and used cars, boats and farm machinery. Local outlays in this direction totaled $1,287,000 in the year. That represented 25 percent of all retail buying.

Most other outlets for consumer goods profited, also, as consumers bolstered by larger incomes and in a buying mood, spent more money than ever before.

Local stores selling general merchandise had sales totaling $1,944,000, a gain of 3 cents of the retail dollar.

Home furnishings stores accounted for $113,000, another 2 cents of the dollar.

Apparel shops did $204,000 in the year, amounting to 4 cents. The consumer, and what he feels and will do, have become the most important key to continued economic well-being.

Buying whims can mean the difference between a good year and a bad one. Today he is confident. He feels his job and his income are secure. As a result, he is going right ahead with his spending, which is keeping the wheels of industry humming at a prosperous clip.

Homemakers' Conference Starts Next Tuesday

It's almost time for Michigan's 30th annual Homemakers' Conference. Next Tuesday the four-day program, planned especially for the homemakers of Michigan, will begin on the campus of Michigan State University.

The conference has a three-fold purpose: education, inspiration, and recreation.

Education-wise, this year's program offers you a variety of subject matter. Twenty-two different speakers will be offered ranging from the way from easy ways with housework to writing for the mass media. You can learn to be a more effective speaker, a more skilled reader, a more skillful photographer.

You can also become better informed about the tensions in the Near and Far East and eastern Europe, study good design in community planning, and learn the role you play in your community.

The inspiration part of the program will be supplied largely by the noted speakers. One of the speakers will be Stanley Andrews, executive director of the National Project in Agricultural Communications. He will give an illustrated talk on "Our World Neighborhoods."

Frank L. Teuton, who is with the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will entertain you as well as inform you with his "Research in the Field." He will show you hundreds of examples of the products which scientists have taken out of the test tube to make your life better.

"We are the Answer," says Dr. William H. Alexander, pastor of the First Christian Church in Oklahoma City. Deeply interested in the problems and progress of the young, he will discuss the part you play in relationship to the future of your children.

Many recreational and social activities are on the agenda for the homemakers. There will be a get acquainted tea on Shaw terrace, square dancing on the green, community singing, a musical program presented by Dorning Ellis, a variety show presented by 4-Hers, and several guided tours of the campus.

Don't miss it—contact Jane W. Venable, Kalkaska, Michigan, Home Demonstration Agent or call ALPINE 8-5181 for your reservation for the Homemakers' Conference.

SENATORIAL FIREWORKS are exploding over the "right-to-vote" bill. Both sides are readying oratorical hydrogen bombs for what promises to be a highly emotional debate. Southern forces, every one knows, will try to talk the bill to death by a filibuster. The rest of us driving hard for the principle of equal rights, will man "swing shifts" in the hope that round-the-clock Senate sessions eventually will wear down the talk-show filibuster.

It is shameful that the right to vote should be the subject of such a battle.

to enforce. The House-passed civil rights bill, now before the Senate, makes it unlawful to obstruct any citizen's right to vote because of color, race, religion or national origin. Among other things, it sets up a Federal Division in the Department of Justice headed by an additional Attorney General.

Opponents plausibly disclaim any wish to deprive others of the right to vote, meanwhile emitting "separate but equal" much of its inflammatory to beat the bill on technicalities. Their denials that negroes are kept from the polls are voided by a look at the figures. For instance, a pitiful 28 of the voters went to the polls in Alabama for the 1956 presidential election. Georgia showed 30%, Louisiana 37%, and Mississippi 22%. I'm proud to say that Michigan turned out 67% of its electorate last fall.

Early this year a few of us battled for a rule change to ease the way for fair civil rights legislation. We failed then, which means that we must "sweat out" a filibuster now. Senate leaders have cleared the decks of other bills and we intend to see this through to a finish if it drags out all summer.

I served beside negro soldiers in the war. I watched them die for their country. I intend to fight with all the strength I possess for the right of every American to step up to a ballot box and share in running his Government.

Half a billion of the world's people are dark-skinned and many of their nations are teetering between democracy and communism. Democracy has yet to prove itself in their eyes. We may be sure they are watching what happens in the Senate now. The United States is on trial before the world.

FAST! OKAY was given to my wheat bill by the Senate last week and House action is expected soon. The bill abolishes penalties for overplanting when the excess wheat is used by a farmer on his own property for feeding or seeding. I was able to make this provision retroactive in the Senate version of the bill, in order to repay Michigan farmers hundreds of thousands of dollars in back penalties. However, House objections to this clause dim chances for back payments. Over-all prospects for passage, however, remain bright.

Best wishes.
Charles E. Potter,
United States Senator

THE SUGAR BEET SWINDLE
ranging the shelves, I heard a male voice sweetly say,
"I'll take you swimming this afternoon."

Talking to sugar was new so I looked up to check this new brand. It was a rather nice package and gave me a story.

Sugar has many uses. Webster calls it a sweet carbohydrate or a class of sweet soluble compounds. Incidentally, he makes no direct connection between sugar and the feminine sex.

Around 1901, Michigan farmers heard that growers were getting "bankable sugar" by raising sugar beets. A city-slicker decided to "sugar" his next. He wrote a book called, "How to Raise Sugar Beets," and placed ads in many farm journals.

These ads told of a guaranteed method of raising sugar beets. This wonderful book would be sent for one paper dollar.

Eager farmers mailed their dollars. The books' cover (2" x 3" in size) boldly proclaimed the title, "How to Raise Sugar Beets." The flyleaf stated, "Sure, Simple, and Guaranteed to Work." Across the inside was the simple truth — "Take a hold of the tops and pull."

Newspapers would not print this type of ad today. We endeavor to keep our advertising truthful. Compare weights, contents, and quality when you compare prices. Stop around the corner and find out. We are happy to serve you.

"Probability" Not Proof...

Back in 1917 and 1918 the DuPont Company bought some $49 million worth of stock in General Motors. Now the U. S. Supreme Court, in reversing a lower court decision, holds that such stock ownership violates Section 7 of the Clayton Anti-Trust Act because of a "reasonable probability" of trade restraints. Never before has Section 7 of the Act been invoked against a "vertical" stock acquisition (in which a company buys into a non-competing firm) and on stock purchased 40 years before. Thus does "probability" take the place of proof based on evidence.

By contrast, labor unions have been exempted from all laws relating to combinations in restraint of trade. They are free to tie the country up from coast to coast in countless ways even though they may endanger the life and health of the nation. It is an actual fact that organized labor combinations have done this, not just a "reasonable probability" that they might do it, and there is no law to curb them.

The most recent example of a labor combination tie-up affecting the people is the express strike preventing shipments to a large area of the country. The fact that there are no laws governing combinations in restraint of trade by labor unions leaves the public to suffer at the hands of unregulated labor monopolies. Such combinations are as dangerous as combination of capital and industry.

The ability to call a strike of unlimited scope certainly indicates "reasonable probability" of trade restraint, especially when the right to work can be denied other men. Anti-Trust laws should include such combinations.

Where Discipline Is Needed...

Puppies invariably make a mess of homes — until they are sternly disciplined and taught to be clean and decent members of the family.

One wishes that a similar discipline could be imposed on the "litterbugs" who strew discarded paper, beer cans, empty bottles and all manner of other rubbish and dirt along the highways, in recreation areas, and in beauty spots throughout the nation.

The litterbugs have the crude manners of untrained puppies — without any of the puppies' excuses.

SUMMER FESTIVAL

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

July 19, 1934

Tuesday afternoon a very delightful bridge party was given at the Officers Club house with the wives of commanding officers at Camp Grayling as hostesses.

The clubhouse had been very attractively decorated with ferns and flowers. Those receiving were Mrs. Guy M. Wilson, Mrs. Leroy Pearson, Mrs. Edgar H. Campbell, and Mrs. John S. Bersey.

Blackie's Blackbirds journeyed to West Branch last Sunday and returned on the short end of a 12 to 8 count.

On Tuesday, twenty-eight Grayling boys and girls journeyed to Gaylord and played the softball games originally scheduled for last Thursday. The girls, led by Eva Mae Bugby, who lashed out with home runs and a double in four trips to the plate, made their thirty-four hits account for twenty-eight runs. The Gaylord girls were limited to thirteen hits and four runs. After the first inning in which the Grayling girls batted twice around and scored thirteen runs, the game was never in doubt. The boys met a fast, well-balanced team and put up a good battle. Gaylord outscored them five to one, getting fourteen hits to twelve for Grayling.

The game was closer than the score showed. The Grayling boys filled the sacks several times but couldn't push them across the home plate.

Mrs. Ernest Bissonette and Mrs. Oscar Smith were hostesses Monday evening at the latter's home to a group of friends in honor of Mrs. Wilbert Simpson.

Grayling was without lights on Tuesday night from 10:30 o'clock until about 4 in the morning, because of some trouble put at the local power plant.

The company is now in the process of erecting a $50,000, but there are millions behind it. Detroit and Chicago men being the incorporators and all needed capital stock will be cared for by our own people. The new factory is being built south of the flooring mill and east of the M. C. R. R. and three hundred men will be employed, when completed.

Wood alcohol, turpentine, acetates, charcoal, wood oils, tar, etc., will be manufactured, both deodorized and pine stumps being utilized. The reports for the use of pine will be first complete.

BIRTH OF A TORNADO—occurs when a cold and a warm air mass collide, and the heavier cold air is deflected above the lighter warm air. In this topsy-turvy situation, a tongue of cold air dips into the warm air, which in turn moves upward to fill the void thus created. As the warm air rushes upward in a spiral motion, other warm air is drawn in, and the process repeats itself, creating a powerful storm.

As the twister leaves its trail, it leaves a path of destruction and public services rush in to care for victims, while the Federal Civil Defense Administration stands ready with thousands of men to assist in temporary repair of damaged public facilities like bridges, highways, etc. (Courtesy A.
